Q: How to run two CLI commands sequentially in xampp\apache\bin\php.ini? I have two CLI scripts written in PHP, one is a wrapper of another, both are .sh files. I would like to run them sequentially, the commands are the same and the exit code will be used. For example: wrapper.sh: ... exec("php script.php"); ... script.php: exec("something something..."); When I use wrapper.sh on the command line and the something something happens, the script.php is run. I need to put something somewhere within the wrapper.php or within the php.ini file but I can't seem to find any information where to put something. I hope you can help! A: You can do this using a combination of exec and array_merge: $command = ['script.php']; $exitCode = 0; exec('php -f ' .
